the purpose of arranging the union work of both churches in British Columbia in a more effective basis. The underlying reason for the meeting was to avoid overlapping of work, especially in scattered communities throughout the province. Both denominations are handicapped for the need of men and money, and both wish to avoid duplicating men in their work as efficiently as two.

Working on this basis various recommendations were sent up by the joint committee to the head authorities of the church. In various districts, if the Presbyterians send a mission worker, the Methodists will support him and send their representatives to some other field, rather than send two men to one place and allow the second place to go without representation at all. In other ways united work will be carried out.

APPROVES PREFERENCE.
Australian Press and Public Review Proposal Enthusiastically.

Sydney, Sept. 20.—Delegates to the congress of the chair of commerce are almost against at the hostility of Australia regarding the preference. The majority of the Sydney delegates adopt a high tone and argue the question from an imperial spirit, not merely from the point of view of local interest. They point out that the Canadian delegates adopted a purely commercial basis while the Australians, who did not initiate the debate, adopted an imperial basis and discussed the British and imperial aspects of the question. The delegates feel that the unanimous verdict is that the congress has done more than anything since federation to promote mutual understanding.

TAFT WOULD REDUCE SWOLLEN FORTUNES

President Brings Denver Audience to 17's Feet With Proposal to Make Illegal Holding of Large Fortunes in Trust—Talks Income Tax, Also.

Denver, Col., Sept. 21.—President Taft took another page from the "Bosses' book tonight and delivered progressive Denver with a recipe for the reduction of swollen fortunes.

"Let the states," he said, "pass laws of inheritance which shall require the division of great fortunes between the children of the deceased and shall not permit a multi-millionaire to leave his fortune in trust so as to keep it in a mass. Make more drastic the rule against perpetuities and then impose a heavy and graduated income tax which shall enable the state to share largely in the proceeds of such large accumulation of wealth which would hardly have been brought about without the state's protection and its aid."

Denver followed his appreciation of the suggestion. As a matter of fact it has been howling ever since the president arrived here this afternoon. Tonight's turnout at the Auditorium where Bryan was last nominated, however, was the biggest yet. It greeted the president since he started west. Fifteen thousand people crowded into the big convention hall and probably as many more stood outside and echoed the cheers from within.

Corporations and Income Tax.

It has been understood that the president would talk conservatively. He changed his mind, however, and in the course of the plan which he has adopted to discuss the policies of his administration on this important subject, he took up the corporations and income tax. He defended the former and urged as correct here that the latter will approve of the constitution. That amendment which has been proposed to legalize the latter.

The president is not in favor of an immediate passage of an income tax law even if the amendment is adopted. But he believes that it would be a good thing for the government to have in stock a handy asset in case of an emergency. He tackled the income tax problem tonight with the same vigor that characterized his address on corporations at Des Moines yesterday. The crowd outside heard the wail of the big stick. He even had another wail at the corporation tonight, pointing out at one time that the corporation income was a powerful lever for the government in its general plan for the regulation of corporations.

Still Thinking Tariff.

And he threw in a new suggestion which indicates that despite all that he has said about the tariff being settled for the time being, his mind continues to dwell upon this vexatious problem. The returns that are made by the corporations under the corporation tax law, he declared, are not reliable in the eyes of the other revision of the tariff, in that they will complicate a revision of the tariff. He said that the condition of the big corporations, the inference being that the corporation tax of protection will not be needed by these interests who seek continued prosperity from year to year.

It was the proposed legislation for the reduction of swollen fortunes that appealed to the crowd most in the audience tonight.

TAFT WIELDS BIG STICK

Following in Footsteps of Roosevelt He Menaces Railways

Omaha, Sept. 20.—Taft called back the Roosevelt big stick this morning and flourished it noticeably at the railroads speaking before a crowd of 20,000 at Des Moines. He declared that the railroad rate bill has not accomplished the purpose for which it was designed and outlined a plan for a more effective control of corporations.

"We have entered upon a course of regulating railroads," said the president, "and as the last measure passed has not been as effective for the purpose as it was intended to be, we must continue to introduce amendments to bring about a bill that will."

Among the important reforms which the president will recommend to the next congress is one forbidding a railroad engaged in interstate commerce to acquire stock in a competing line. A drastic law is proposed to prevent the over capitalization of railroads by putting the control of all future issues of stocks of bonds under the interstate commerce commission.

While the president denounces the views the suggestion that labor unions be specifically exempted from the operation of the anti-trust law, he suggests a general plan for the amendment of the Sherman act under which he believes the boycott will be legal. In an effort to bring about the interstate commerce law is proposed, with the establishment of an interstate commerce court to pass on the decisions of the committee with an appeal lying only to the supreme court of the United States.

The speech, being along the lines of the railroad reform, proposed by former-President Roosevelt, was enthusiastically cheered by the audience. But for the fact that the president did strike out upon the subject of the only stopping place in Iowa, his reception here would undoubtedly have been short of what might be termed enthusiastic.

GULF COAST SWEPT BY TERRIFIC GALES

Immense Damage Done by Fiercest Wind Storm in History of Southern States—Eight Lives Lost in New Orleans—Property and Crop Damage Exceeds a Million.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 21.—Related reports coming from crippled wires tell a terrible story of the tropical gulf storm of the past thirty-six hours which blew itself out along the Gulf coast this afternoon, passed through Tennessee and tonight is headed for Kentucky, its fury, however, having been greatly diminished.

It was the wildest hurricane in the history of gulf disturbances. The gulf coast in Louisiana and Alabama for seven hundred miles was devastated for a distance of forty to sixty miles inland. The destruction of property and crops was variously estimated from $500,000 to $1,000,000. The great toll of casualties seems to be eight killed in New Orleans, three by live wires, and five at Jackson, Miss. In the collapse of a building, the wind did damage to buildings and crops roughly estimated at $250,000 to $300,000.

Natchez Wiped Out by Wind.

Private reports were received during the day that Natchez, Miss., had been practically wiped out by a hurricane which struck the town at 10 o'clock this afternoon. All day long efforts to reach the town by telephone and telegraph proved futile. The town is still isolated late tonight. At Jackson, Miss., the east dome of the capital was crushed by the wind and considerable damage done by the wind to other buildings. Little damage was done at Mobile.

Meriden, Miss., Reported to Have Suffered a Loss of Between $25,000 and $50,000 by Fire last night during the storm. At Vicksburg the wind blew 40 miles an hour, several houses being demolished. No lives were lost there. At Yazoo, Miss., all houses and a number of cottages were swept away.

Three Steamboat Wrecked.

No lives were lost there, but there were rumors current that many had died in the storm on the coast. At Paducah, Ky., the steamship Yazoo was wrecked on the Mississippi the evening of the 20th. The Yazoo went down in the river late this morning.

The steamship Bulk, the Comoros and Lavo of the Houston Branch were sunk by the hurricane, which swept over Vicksburg, and the Yazoo Canal a ferry boat was totally wrecked.

The Comoros and Pawn two boats were sunk near the Houston sawmills. The Yazoo was wrecked on the Mississippi the evening of the 20th. The Yazoo went down in the river late this morning.

At New Orleans, the river was in flood, but the levees held. Many structures in New Orleans were badly damaged. By the collapse of a two-story building at Jackson, Miss., 17 people were killed. A blacksmith was instantly killed and his assistant, C. D. Clatter, was fatally injured. His leg was broken.
